Jesus, the Light of Life

By Fr. Wratkowski, Pastor

As the light has grown shorter and night has become greater as we arrive at the winter solstice, I do not believe I am alone in my appreciation for the festive lights that pop up in yards and on houses as Christmas approaches. It almost seems like I forget how dark the dark is this time of year. Those questions begin ruminating in my mind: “Was it this dark last year? Did I long for the light as much last year as I do this year?”

Many people can find this time of year and its accompanying darkness difficult. The physical darkness reminds us of the spiritual darkness in ourselves and in the world. Not only does it have potential to weigh on us, our attempts to flee from the discomfort of it or to distract ourselves from it can be self-destructive and put strain on our relationships.

When we allow ourselves the opportunity to face our spiritual darkness, instead of avoiding or medicating it through throwing ourselves into sensual delights and pleasures, we realize that the remedy we need is not distraction from the darkness but a light to illuminate it. It is into this dark scene that the gentle light of God’s glory rises in the cry of a newborn baby in Bethlehem. This newborn baby would later declare “I am the light of the world. Whoever follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life” (John 8:12).

Like the sun, the Son of God does more than reveal the glory of God’s life and love but also “illuminates all things on earth, making everything appear in its true light,” as Raniero Cantalamessa put so eloquently in his homily to Pope Francis and the papal household on March 1 of this year. The sun is magnificent in its own right, and it helps us to see the world as it truly is. With Jesus, the “light of life” we see that His light helps us to see our darkness in a new way. We see that our sinful darkness is no match for the light of His forgiveness, that the darkness of despair flees with the advent of hope, that the cold darkness of a selfish heart can be warmed by the self-giving light of God’s love.

When Jesus, the light of the world was born, there was no room for Him within the inn illuminated by earthly light. The world, which offers its own competing light, has no room for the “light of life.” It invites us to see the world and our darkness in a different light: that unforgiveness is power, that despair is inevitable and that selfishness is the way to happiness.

In this last week of Advent and this Christmas season, may we welcome the true light, Jesus, in our hearts. May His presence as “the light of life” help us to see our spiritual darkness for what it truly is, as the joyful occasion of the savior to come flooding into the heart to illumine and redeem it, no matter how dark it is. A Happy Fourth Sunday of Advent and a Merry Christmas to you and all your loved ones!

Scripture of the Week

"When Elizabeth heard Mary's greeting, the infant leaped in her womb..." (Luke 1:41a)

Fr. Arnold used to refer to the Fourth Sunday of Advent as "Hurry Up Sunday". Our fourth week this year is but half a week as we celebrate Christmas on Wednesday. Still, we do have a few days to continue "wasting time with the Lord" and ponder the message of today's Gospel reading. The very person who has a reaction to the presence of Jesus as an embryo in Mary's womb is the unborn fetus who will become John the Baptizer while he is still in Elizabeth's womb. Have you leapt for joy at the news of Jesus's "adventus" - coming?

For His coming is what Christmas is all about - and it is really a two-fold coming. Jesus's coming as a baby 2000+ years ago yes, but we also anticipate and celebrate His second coming. Recently I heard a comment on a podcast that made me stop and think. Fr. Mike Schmitz was reflecting on some readings from 1 Corinthians. He spoke of how hard an athlete will work to perfect her skills to sharpen those skills for competition. And then Fr. Mike said, "Help me to strive for Heaven like a champion strives for the championship." And there is the gift of Advent, taking the time to strive ever harder to be friends with the one who came 2000+ years back - the same one who will come again.

Weekly reflections by parishioner Jon Hickman on this Fourth Sunday of Advent.
